The 2017 International Technology Enhanced Assessment Conference (TEA 2017) is a unique event connecting researchers, practitioners and policy makers to address current challenges and advances in the field of E-Assessment. In its 20th edition the conference targets to represent the state-of-the-art and different perspectives on the conception, development, evaluation and implementation of computer-assisted assessment in different sectors like primary education, secondary (vocational) education, higher (vocational) education but also professional learning and non-formal learning.

The conference consists of two main tracks: Research in E-Assessment and Practice in E-Assessment. The conference seeks to connect the research and development communities.

TOPICS

Conference topics include, but are not limited to the following: TEA-Assessment quality and security, Policy frameworks for tea-assessment, Assessment in the context of MOOCs and Open Educational Resources, Open badges for assessment, Assessment platforms (architectures, open sources initiatives etc.), Question bank/item repositories, Authoring tools for assessment for teachers and learners, Tools for automatic scoring (e.g., free text entry) and feedback systems, Automation of item and test generation, Reporting systems: ePortfolios, Webfolios, open learner models, visualization of results, Mobile assessment, Assessment in serious games and virtual worlds, TEA for key competences, Methodologies, Adaptive testing and adaptive assessment, Learning analytics and e-Assessment best practices when teaching and learning is conducted on distance/online environments.
